managers of Washington newspapers and
R. P. Andrews, president of the Retail Merchants' Association; Cuno H. dolph, of the Board of Trade, and Willm F. Gude, president of the Chamber Commerce—will be present.

Mrs. Henderson Volunteers. Mrs. Henderson is an able and hearty worker for the campaign. She offered her help to the committee on reading the first announcement in The Herald, and has consented to everything but the ade-quate use of her name in newspaper stories.

Mrs. Henderson last night consented to visit the seven members of the commit-tee and to confer with them. Another sign that interest is being taken is the movement is that two members of the committee-Mr. Andrews and Mr. Gude both suggested holding a meet-ing tomorrow evening just before or just after the meeting of the chamber. Dur-ing the meeting, the chamber is expected to offer its co-operation.

With the first two meetings, a campaign will be planned to start work. It is believed that one of the first activities will be to send thousands of letters to travelers.

"The decent people of the land do it not know what is going on in Mexico. Do you know that this country sent there two bigots who are hand and glove with the enemies of our faith there? Do you know that these men stated that the only remedy for the evils in that distracted country was the destruction of the Catholic religion there? Do you know that those now in control in Mexico-two brigands—who were recognized by this government, have openly sworn that no Catholic convent or school shall be tolerated in Mexico-during their regime?"

He further declared that, "wherever these scoundrels went, nums were violated, churches were used for stables, and that a hundred other outrages perpetrated. In Vera Cruz there are perhaps a thousand priests and nuns, and this government is about to withdraw her troops and when urged to take these, our brethers, some of them Americans, to a place of safty, refused.
